HONGKONG OFFICE: 10A, DES VŒUX ROAD C LONDON OFFICE: 131, FLEET STREET, EC.

HONGRONG, DECEMBER 20th, 1905.

We have received the second volume of the Chinese Emperial Maritime Customs annual_trade reports, dealing with the southern ports. These carefully compiled and comprehensive books take so long to prepare that it is inevitable some of the information should appear stale. The bulk of it, however, is not accessible until it comes in the familiar vellow covers. In this volume is incorporated the interesting with which we have dealt already. The -next in point of local interest is the Kowloon Trade Report for 1904, which takes our thoughts back to the "harassing feeling of uncertainty entering into all commercial transactions, as a result of the war . . . and of a fluctuating exchange. These partly explained "the anything but brisk state of trade in the Kowloon district during 1904." There were other handicaps -" the competition of steam in freights" | during the war.

is mentioned-but not the least deterrent was "the ever-present element of piracy in the locality." It will sound strange to renders in England that piracy should prevail and make life and property insecure so near to a naval base like Hongkong; and although we can make more allowance for local difficulties than they can, we are not. convinced that our naval representatives fully justify their presence. The British navy used to regard pirates all over the world as worthy of attention; but it looks as if the local ones are left too much to the Water Police, who are presumably sufficiently occupied by maintaining order in the Harbour. Surely the spirit that used to be manifested in chasing slave dhows in African waters might be called forth in defence of trade and freedom here. It is not as if the pirates pursued their nefarious business solely in Chinese waters. The total trade for 1904, it appears, was, even in face of the troubles referred to, in the suburbs as well as in the slightly better than in 1903; and the value business quarters. of the cargo passing the Stations in the Canton River Estuary (foreign imports) was approximately seventeen and a half million taels, or about one million taels more than in the previous year. Native exports, however, decreased a million and a half. These results, however, have to be considered in connection with the enhanced values of many items; and the comparison of quantities shows that it was, like 1903, "at lest a poor year." "On the other hand, that is the point of view of the customs man. He bewails, what we cannot be expected to do, the success of steam transit against junk transit. "The competing day and night boats to and from Canton, with freights down to barely paying level, are to avail themselves of the Mixed doing all they can to attract cargo; and the | Court trouble as an excuse to loot the time saved in transit of goods and the greater security against robbery offered by steamers are strong inducements to the native shipper to adopt the new means of carriage in lieu of the old." The spring and autumn crops harvested in and around the district were said to be "fair," although heavy rains ruined nearly twenty per cent early in the year. Yet money remained tight throughout, and the year's revenue was the poorest recorded. It was eleven thousand taels less than in 1903, the falling off being chiefly in opium and likia duties—which to some will appear as | a suisfactory decrease. We reproduce to-morrow some interesting extracts from Mr. MD. PARR's report.

Mr. Pokotiloff has communicated to the Waiwupu the desire of Russia to negotiate a treaty with China, as soon as the negotiations with Japan are finished. He demands concessions of railways, mines, and trade in Mongolia, the New Dominion, and Hi.

The sincerity of the Chinese authorities in reference to the boycott of American trade is shown by the fact that while the Viceroy at Nanking was assuring the American Consulreport on the Post Office working in China, General that the boycott was suppressed, an excited meeting attended by 3,000 Chinese was being held at Soochow at which the extension and intension of the boycott were vehemently

THE MANCHURIA NEGOTIATIONS. Peking, 11th December.

There was no conference to-day. The Chino-Japanese negotiations have, however, continuously progressed since the 8th inst.

It is reported that China has appointed Prince Ching, and T. E. Na Tung and Hsu Shibchang, plenipotentiaries to proceed to St. Petersburg and negotiate with Russia concerning Manchurian questions. Of the Chinese counter-proposals it is known that China agrees to allow Japan to erect telegraphs in the three Eastern provinces, but for a fixed term only. She also limits Japanese mining operations to a certain area, and agrees that no jax be levied on the fishing or timbercutting industries. China does not allow Japan to have the manufacture of salt, nor establish branch lines of the Chinese Eastern Railway. THEATRE ROYAL.

The Zorilla Musical Comedy Company have returned to Hongkong. They opened another. season in the Theatre Royal last night before a fair audience and were cordially received, their production of "Whirly Girly" calling forth loud applause and numerous encores, The choruses of the songs were readily taken up by the audience, the dances and costunes were very nest and artistic, and the funniosities with which the sketch abounds proved most mirth-provoking. Leading honours again fell to Miss. Maud Beattie, who was well supported I by the other members of the cast.

THE LINCHOW AFFAIR.

Our Cunton correspondent writes on Dec. 18 :- I called on one of the Chinese officials who took part in the Linchow Enquiry. He told me that the enquiry was practically closed; and that a meeting is to be held by representatives The situation in Moscow is serious and of both governments to arrive at a final decision. He had no doubt that it has been clearly established that Dr. Machle did snatch three little cannons (not bombs) out of the six that were disposed in a row in front of the joss for worshipping purposes. The Doctor took them away to the dispensary, and refused to return them. The Commissioner has no doubt that intends to keep the Morocco question to Miss Chestnut did sweep all the josses away when the people went to ask for the return of the cannons. Evidence would have been produced to prove this, but the unfortunate lady being dead, the question, he says, was deferentially shelved. The American Consul General applied to Viceroy Shum to obtain the evidence of Sub-prefect Ku, who was at Linchow, and was cashiered lifteen months ago on the charge of bringing a false accusation against one of his secretaries. Ku had accused his secretary of being a confirmed opium smoker. Governor Chang dismissed the case and cashiered Ku. Shortly afterwards Ku obtained an appointment in the Police Service of Canton through Viceroy Shum. While holding this post it was discovered that Ku had misappropriated-4,060-tools during-his-tenure ofoffice as Sub-prefect of Linchow, and this charge having been proved against him, Ku was committed to gaol and is still in prison undergoing his sentence. The Viceroy naturally refused to permit such a scoundrel to give evidence in such an important affair, as his evidence would have no value. But, he said, we have discovered that Ku has written several letters to Dr. Machle and to two native missionaries, offering to give evidence in their favour by stating that the Linchow peorle were ill-disposed and had a grudge against Dr. Machle and the mission; on the condition that he should be reinstated as Sub-prefect of Linchow

> Ku would show in return that a year ago the people had made up their minds to kill Dr. Machie and the missionaries. All these letters are now in the hands of the Chinese authorities. The Chinese Government has consequently determined not to grant a further investigation in the matter, and should the American Government insist, the whole of the report will be disclosed and published in all the newspapers. submitting the case to public opinion.

Following is a translation of one of the letters written by Ku Kwong Ip, ex-Sub-prefect of Linchow, to Chi Sing, a native missionary.

"To Chi-Sing, respectable gentleman, have received your letter and know that you are in Canton and that you are about to return to Linchow. I regret to be unable to see you personally. How about the Linchow missionary case? Is the investigation completed? Have a the culprits been arrested? As Tsim-Lin-Shou has been cashiered. I do not know whether Chung-Chi will proceed to Linchow to take up his post. If he does, I do not think he is capable of doing anything. Mr. Cheun, who has been permanently appointed to the position of Sub-prefect of Linchow, is also an incapable man and has not got the ability to handle such a difficult matter. It is not an easy matter. I trust you will speak on my behalf to the American Consul-General and beg him to insist that the Chinese authorities should reinstate me as Subprefect of Linchow. I assure you that I can give great assistance to the missionaries I beg that the contents of this letter be kept perfectly secret and that nobody should come to know of it. With compliments. (Signed) Your younger brother, Ku Kwong Ip. The addressee is one of the native Christian missionaries of the American Presbyterian Society of Linchow.

A STONE CARRIER'S DEATH.

Before Mr. F. A. Hezeland and a jury, at the Magistracy yesterday afternoon, an inquiry was held concerning the death of a coolie named Chan Po, who was killed on the 29th ultimo while engaged with others removing stones from hill which was being quarried at Yaumati. Chan Loi Hing, who was engaged at the top of the hill rolling stones down, was arraigned on the charge of causing grievous bodily harm, the deceased then being alive.

Chan Loi Hing, declared, said he was a stone carrier. On the morning of the 29th ultimo he was rolling stones down a hill at Yaumati. He rolled the one down which killed deceased. but, as he set it going, called out that it was coming: Deceased did not get out of the way until the stone had got within two or three hundred feet of him. Witness had been rolling stones down hills for five months.

Further evidence was heard, after which the jury returned a verdict of death by misadven-

SUPREME COURT.

Tuesday, 19th December.

IN CRIMINAL JURISDICTION.

BEFORE SIR FRANCIS PIGGOTT (CHIEF Justice).

ALLEGED AREON.

Kwok Fat and Li Kat Hin were arraigned on charge of arson, with wilfully setting fire to premises at 462 Des Voux Road with intent to defraud two insurance companies, the Meiji and the National Prussian. The Attorney-General conducted the prosecution; and prisoners, who pleaded not guilty, were defended by Mr. W N. Slade (instructed by Mr. O. D. Thomson).

The following jury were empanelled-Messrs. William J. Crawford (foreman), Harry Hodge, H. W. B. Kennett, F. Campbell, G. A. MacGregor, J. I. Andrew, and F. O. Reynolds. The Attorney-General, in opening the case, said the prisoners were charged with setting fire to a godown in Des Voeux Road West, in which the second prisoner was a partner and the first an employee. When the fire broke out on the night of 22nd November the examination made then would satisfy the jury that the fire had been deliberately set, and they would be satisfied that it had been set, with the purpose of defrauding the insurance companies. The evidence would satisfy them that the godown had been fired in five different places, and there would be little difficulty in coming to the conclusion that it was a case of arson. In addition to what he had mentioned, the jury would be told that there were distinct and strong smells of kerosene in the place, and that drops of burning liquid were seen dropping from the first floor to the ground floor. After explaining that in such cases the prosecution had to rely largely on circumstantial ovidence, the Attorney-General said he would prove that the premises were insured for $27,000 and that, at the time of the fire, the goods in the godown only represented a value of about $1,000. Thus there was the probability of defendants, in the event of their setting fire to the premises, gaining $26,000. Again he would prove that on or about 2)th or be given some other equivalent official | September the second prisoner invested $15,000 in the godown, which he draw out in three instalments within a fortnight's time. At 2 o'clock on the morning following the fire the second defendant was in the shop fully dressed. He never called for the police and these circum stances would require explanation. Evidence for the prosecution was adduced at considerable length.

Mr. Slade, in opening the defence, said there was no doubt that this house was set on fire. but the question the jury had to decide was I am informed that Consul General Cheshire | whether it was set on fire by either of the two the fire in separate places—to what did the The official I interviewed also stated that evidence against the men amount. It amounted to nothing more than that a constable saw the those that have absconded are arrested and first prisoner as he was coming out of the godown and apprehended him after a miraculously quick run. With regard to the second prisoner, the master of the shop, it was said by the detective that he was found in the morning fully dressed. But counsel would call evidence to show that that was untrue and that prisoner was in bed when the police called. He got up at their request and went round with them to the Police Station. They would see the importance of that when they remembered that the case against the second prisoner depended absolutely. upon the evidence of the policeman. The only other evidence against the second prisoner was that of a policeman, who had been in the Colony for 21 months, and who said he identified him as the man he had seen under the light of a street lamp walking in front of the premises where the fire took place. It was absurd to think that one could remember the details of a Chinaman's features, and he reminded the Jury of the ghastly mistakes that had been made in the administration of justice, by placing reliance on the evidence of identification. Li Chow Sou, a sleeping partner in the Wong Fook Tai, spoke to being in the shop on the night in question and looked through the books with Li Kat Hin. Shortly after 10 o'clock he went to bed and told the latter to go to bed He did so and was roused out of bed by the police knocking them up. Cross-examined-He told Li Kat Hin to go

Why did you tell him to go to bed that night? - I told him on other nights to go to bed. Why?-Well, he is my cousin, and I took an interest in him (laughter).

And did you leave anyone in charge (when you returned to Canton) to send your consin to bed? -No, he was left to his own discretion.

And he could stay up late if he liked?-- Yes (laughter). The cook at the house also gave evidence as

ANGLO-GERMAN RELATIONS. The annual dinner in honour of the Kings birthday was given at the Uhlenhorster Fährhaus on the 9th inst. and was wel attended by members of the British colony and their friends, Sir William Ward, H.B:M Consul-General presiding. After proposing the health of the Kaiser as the paramoun prince of the country we live in, he proceeded to give the toast of the evening, "the King." Looking back upon the events of the past year he thought there was much upon which we might congratulate ourselves: the health of His Majesty had left little to be desired and the position of Great Britain in the council of untions had been materially strengthened, but he sincerely regretted, as he felt sure everybody present did, that there had been no change for the better in the state of feeling of the English and German peoples towards each other, but rather the reverse. He was afraid that the press of both countries must be held largely responsible for it; he hoped, however, that it arose from misunderstandings, which would yield to a juster appreciation of things, as the two nations come to know each other better and their aims and aspirations. A dance followed which was kept up with great spirit until after midnight. A congratulatory telegram was despatched to His Majesty in the course of the evening to which a gracious reply has since been received, A PROVOKING HOOK Whether publications such as the "Collapse of the Old World" which has just appeared in Berlin, are calculated to promote the better for, and which all rational persons in both countries should sincerely desire and do their best to further, is extremely doubtful. The author professes to write the history of a war between Great Britain, France, Spain and Portugul on the one side, and Germany, Italy and Austria on the other, in which the last named power, however, owing to internal difficulties, takes no prominent part. The cause of the war is a dispute about the Samoan Islands in which the United States are at first involved but from which they withdraw in time. The German and Italian fleets are entirely destroyed by the combined naval forces of England and France, but an English expeditionary corps landing at Kiel is cut to pieces, whilst the French armies are defeated all along the line. After six months hard fighting by land and sea, Germany remains victorious, but is so completely exhausted and crippled, that she has to cade the past to Russia, who now becomes the predominant power on land. Britannia no longer rules the waves, having suffered too severely to prevent the United States from assuming command of the Ocean, who forthwith as in earnest of their intentions, demand the evacuation of the West Indian islands by the mother-country. France and the other old European states engaged in the war have also broken down under the burden of it; hence the title of the book! It is said to be exceedingly well written, with great descriptive power and to contain much that is interesting not only to the ordinary reader, but from a military and naval point of view as well. But whatever the merits of the book may be, I do not think it can assist in establishing more friendly. feelings amongst the different nations; it is playing with fire, a somewhat dangerous pastime always, but more particularly solwhen so much combustible matter is piled up everywhere as at present. One of its real objects I suppose to be the gain ny of adherents for the new navy bill which is to be laid before the Reichstag during the next session, and to cover the costs of which the government is now casting about within a certain radius on other lines. TOBACCO AND REVENUE PROPOSALS. An increase in the duty on tobacco is also spoken of and seems to meet, whatever consumers may think of it, with little opposition on the part of manufacturers, provided it be proportionately greater on the manufactured article than on the raw material, in order the more effectually to protect the home industry against foreign competition; for not only is a large amount of capital engaged in the trade, but the number of operatives who gain a living by it is very considerable. I understand that as many as 160,000 are employed in cigar making alone, in 10,000 large and 5,000 smaller factories. The work in most branches of the trade being comparatively easy, the great majority of the hands consists of either women and girls or of men physically unfit for other occupations, by whom, of course, any measure affecting the prosperity of the industry would be most severely felt.

It is urged that foreign competition has been gaining ground of late years, the present duty of M2.70 per kilo on cigars and cigarettes -having proved inadequate to shut it out. The imports of cigars, cigarettes and other kinds of manufactured tobacco from foreign countries has increased much more rapidly than the exports from Germany, and this would continue to a still greater extent, if in raising the duty on tobacco the present ratio between that on the raw article and that on the manufactured were to be maintained.

The imports and exports of the latter during the first nine months of the last three years amounted in thousands of marks to:-

DISUNION AMONG THE BOYCOTTERS. The Wuckow boycott union has sent telegrams understanding Sir William so earnestly pleads to the Canton Union and to Liang-Shing Chinese Minister in Washington, protesting on behalf of the people of Wuchow against the twelve conditions submitted to the American merchants in Hongkong.

An extraordinary meeting of the Canton Boycott union was held yesterday in the Kwong-chai Hospital in the presence of hundreds of people including representatives from the different colleges, the press, and the 72 merchant guilds in Canton. The president, Cheng To-chai, Taotai, stated that the nine representatives sont to Hongkong. had exceeded their powers as they were not authorized to wire abroad that they were negotiating on behalf of all the representatives of the unions in China. He said that the object of the meeting to-day was to find some means to undo the harm done by the Hongkong meeting. Cha Ku-yuen, one of the nine who went to Hongkong, then spoke. He admitted that they had made a mistake by wiring abroad to the effect that they were representing all the unions. As to the twelve conditions; he said that they had been drafted by a lawyer who sent them direct to the Americans. They were not binding and final and could be altered. After some discussion, it was dec'ded to wire to the American Minister to consider these twelve conditions and the telegram sent to him on the subject as null and void as the union did not agree to them, and would not endorse them. Owing to the absence of Doctor Horder from the port, and some other unavoidable circum stances, the laying of the Foundation Stone of the new Church adjoining the English Hospital which was to have taken place on the 22nd ultime was postponed to the 13th instant. The weather was then, unfortunately, not propitious for such an open air gathering. A strong cold wind was blowing from the North-East, accompanied occasionally by drizzling rain. The whole community, with very few exceptions, answered to the invitations; even the ladies turned out to be present at this function. The religious ceremony was done by the Rev. Mr. C. I. THE SITUATION AT SHANGHAL | matter of right, but offer one as a matter of

Although its mad expression was sharply Now comes the matter of the Mixed Court, and nothing to retract from what we have already said as to the causes and origin of the riot. THE POINT AT ISSUE.

There was apparently one misunderstanding of the details of the Mixed Court fracas, as appears in the following extract from the N.-C.Daily News :- "The South China Daily Journal complains of the "one-sided and irrelevant statements" in our article on the outbreak at the Mixed Court, and says that if any serious consequences result from the outrage, we shall be largely to blame. accuses us of trying to hoodwink our readers by representing that there was a disagreement between the Chinese magistrate and the British assessor as to the destination of the children. We acknowledged, however, on Monday, that we were misinformed on this point, and took the earliest opportunity of correcting our mistake. A great-deal is made of the arrest of legally boutht slave girls, on the charge of kidnapping. Our native contemporary ignores the fact that the police were informed by a telegram from Chinkiang that they should look out for a kidnapper with her victims on board a river steamer; that kidnapping is recognised by Chinese as a serious crime; and that they would have rightly complained if the police took no notice of such a warning. We cannot suppose that the Chinese magistrate are to be abolished. would have remanded the Cantonese lady to the Mixed Court cells, as he did, if there were sufficient evidence that she was the lawful owner of the girls. But all this is beside the real question, which is: Are the Tautai's orders to over-ride the orders of the Consular Budy in the International Settlement? The you:-Consular Body have instructed the foreign assessors that female prisoners on remand are to be sent to the Municipal goal, where there is a proper women's ward under feminine supervision. The Taotai has instructed the magistrate that they are to be put in the Mixed tourt cells. The British assessor and the police were doing their duty in carrying out the instructions of the Consular Body, and the magistrates were doing what they thought was their duty. The "outrage," as our contemporary calls it, arose through the magistrate's runners attacking the police. Meanwhile, a correspondent who has had a long experience in China, and knows the subject thoroughly, writes: "It may help in the understanding of this Mixed Court affair if you | Translation of dispatch from Toolai to Senior realise the fact that the Mixed Court, as well as every native Court in China, is "run" by the "runners." For some years the Mixed Court "runners" have grouned over the losses to them by the Municipal care of prisoners, and in cases involving dealings in females they get their best harvest. HONGKONG AND SHANGHAL BANK THREATENED. On the 13th inst., five days before the outbreak, our contemporary had the following note:—": Although native opinion is still highly excited over the affair in the Mixed Court, and the most extravegant and anti-foreign sentiments are being expressed, the tension between the Chinese and Consular authorities is somewhat relaxed. The Consular body met yesterday to discuss the dispatches from the Taotai, and the proceedings have not, of course, been divulged. But it appears to be generally understood that the immediate crisis has been avoided and that negotiations may be set on foot which will result in a complete understanding in regard to Mixed Court procedure. We are authorised to deny most emphatically the ridiculous statement set about yesterday that dispatches from Sir Pelham Warren to the Taotai had been returned unopened, and that the Taotai's dispatches had also been returned to him. Last night it became known that an organised run on the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank is being planned for to-day, when as many notes as possible are to be presented for redemption in silver dollars. It is even asserted that the co-operation of one of the smaller foreign banks has been secured in this managure, which cannot, however, do more than possibly cause a temporary inconvenience to trade. The Bank meet any such run, and in so doing might, in return, seriously inconvenience the native banks.' NATIVE NEWSPAPER INSTIGATION. Naturally, the native newspapers "took a hand," no doubt with official countenance. As early as the 12th inst., a correspondent wrote :--"Sir.-Those of your readers who glance at the columns of the Chinese morning papers begin to think that before long we shall have the events of 1900 repeated. Then, China defied the world in arms, with disastrous consequences to herself, and now the editorials of most of the Shanghai nutive papers remind one of nothing so much as of an Irishman at Donnybrook fair, upreariously demanding that someone should trend on the tail of his cont. A little while ago we had the American boycott and the vials of editorial wrath were poured out on America. Then came the Japanese Commissioners and the Manchurian negotiation. The Japanese did not comport themselves as pliably as Young China thought proper, and for a time they were said to be worse than the Russians. The Vladivostock riots furnish a text toone of your contemporaries for an impassioned appeal to its readers to grow strong against the foreigner. No-one would for a moment ref r to such an outrage as that at Vladivostock with anything but horror, but, when the Chinese papers complain that Russia promises an indemnity for Chinese wrongs, only as a matter of grace on the part of the Czar's government but Foreign Powers, with a strong hand, compel China to pay as a matter of right, when the Chinese destroy foreign life and property, they forget that the reason why Foreign Powers demand an indemnity from China for all riots and massacres is because these riots are either

INSTIGATED BY CHINESE OFFICIALS or are allowed to take place with their cognisance and consent. The Russian soldiers at Vladivostock were as savage as the Chinese Boxers, but while the soldiers rioted in the northern port no Russian officer dared appear in uniform. CHINESE DEMANDS. At the interview granted to the merchants and gentry by Taotai Yuan at the Bureau of Foreign Affairs, the former, says the Nanfangpao, presented the following proposals, which, they urged, should be considered in the settlement of the Mixed Court fracas.

THE MUNICIPAL COUNCIL'S CASE. The following letter, with enclosures, was ordered for publication as bearing on the recent dispute at the Court :---

Dear Sir.—I have the honour to forward to 1.—Translation of a dispatch from the Taotai, dated 10th of June, 1905. 2.—Translation of a reply dated 21st of June Shanghai, 22nd June, 1905.

As it appears impossible to come to terms with the local Chinese authorities. I have been instructed by my colleagues to proceed to Nanking and to discuss the question with hi Excellency the Viceroy.—I have the honour to be, dear sir, your obedient servant; DR. KNAPPE.

Consul-General for Germany and Senior Consul F. Anderson Esq.,

Chairman, Municipal Council.

Consul, dated the 10th June, 1905. The Taot i writes in reply to the letter of the 6th inst. that according to all the treaties a Chinese offender is under the jurisdiction of China. If a Chinese commits an offence in the Settlement, he is to be tried and detained in custody by the Magistrate of the Mixed Court according to Article I, of the rules for the Mixed Court at Shanghai.

The Mixed Court has existed in Shanghai for several teus of years; but neither is there any mention in the treaties, nor is there any precedent to show that a female convict has ever been sent to the Municipal Goal.

I have been, the Taofai continues, in Shangfor four years as Taotai and have always endeavoured in my intercourse with the foreign Consuls to act in an amicable manner. I cannot understand how you, as Sentor Consul. influenced by the Municipal Council, can address to me a request which is not in conformity with the treaties.

In consequence of the successive enlargements of the Settlement the number of the which have to be tried in the Mixed Court has increased. And accordingly the gaols for male and female prisoners, which in former times were regarded as large enough, have proved to be too small. I have, therefore, given instructions to the Mixed Court Magistrate to repair and cleanse the Mixed Court's gaols and to choose a place on the Mixed Court's premises for erecting new buildings.

Mr. Twyman, the British Assessor, has inspected the places and declared them as fit for use. Thereupon I have set apart a sum of money for the construction of the new buildings and have thus done my duty. Female convicts have to be tried as soon as they have been taken, and immediately after the trial they are to be dealt with according to the

If there have occurred delays in producing female convicts because I do not agree with their being sent to the Municipal gaol, and if consequently cases accumulate, the fault lies not with me but with the foreign assessor According to Chinese law offenders who have committed a crime are sent to prison; those who have only committed a trivial offence are kept in custody.

Never has there been equal treatment in all the cases without regard for the severity of the case. Your request that I should agree with the female convicts for the present being sent to the Municipal goal is not in accordance with the treaties, and I am therefore not in a nosition to comply with it.

Translation of the Senior Consul's reply dated

I have the honour to acknowledge-the receipt of your letter dated 10th of this mouth which I have submitted to the Consular Body. I have received instructions to reply to you as follows :

Hongkong, 14th December, 1905.

A "foreign-resident" wrote-on Dec.-1-1thas follows:-"In the interest of fair play would it not be well to consider more fully the Chinese side of the Mixed Court question? It has been stated at the recent meeting of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce and referred to in the leading article of the Nanfangpao for December 11th, in English. There is no doubt that all Chinese opinion, official and mercantile, considers that the treaty rights of Chinese in Shanghai have not been' maintained or advanced by this assault by the servants of the Council on the Mixed Court, but on the contrary have been disgracefully and brutally trampled down. The Council's advocates claim that they are protecting the rights of Chinese residents. But this claim is quite ridiculous in the presence of the fact that all the great guilds, as well as the officials, are preparing to take such united action as will bring this community, which lives by commerce, to realise the danger of overriding the rights of the Chinese, no matter under what pretext. Even if force is used to coerce the Chinese authorities locally, one cannot tell whether this matter will-end-here or in the interior. The Chinese are coming to the point of standing up for their rights as they understand them, even if it gives us foreigners a shock. .The speech made by Taotai_Yuan on Saturday, when the heads of the Chinese organisations of capital called upon him, is indicative of RACHALS' the new era. He said

"I must apologise to you all for not having managed foreign affairs in the past with sufacient firmness, thus resulting in the disgraceful trampling upon our rights, as was witnessed at the Mixed Court two days ago. Be assured that in this instance I will exert my atmost to erase the shame inflicted on the Chinese Government and the people by the action, of the British assessor and the municipal police. am willing to give up my post in the fight for justice and fair play.

"The bravery of magistrate Kuan in main taining against all odds the sovereign rights of China is praiseworthy, and it is my intention to see that reparation be done to him for the insults and shameful treatment he underwent at the hands of the police.

"I thank you for calling upon me, and I cannot praise you enough for your exhibition of public spirit and of loyalty to country." The Taotai followed his speech by proroguing, for the present, the Mixed Court, and I, for one, do not blame him for doing so.'

A CHINESE OPINION. A Chinese correspondent said the Chinese people are not willing to see their women, however guilty they may be, kept in foreigners' eastedy. It has been stated in the foreign Press that by this special police regulation the Chinese would be b-nefited. I am sorry to say that we Chinese do not concur with your views in the matter, and in this special case I may also add that the whole Chinese people will be a unit in sympathising with the energetic action of our good Mixed Court magistrates. It is true that in consideration of the great amount of taxes paid by us Chinese in the community, the foreign Municipality gives us a certain pretection, but we do not want that, under the pretence of protection the police can enter our houses, wrongly arrest our women, our sisters and daughters, and detain them in their custody; it is a question of principle for us, and we, as far as in us lies, will allow it never.

"YOUNG CHINA" BLAMED: A CURIOUS SUGGESTION. An American at Soochow says :-"It seems to be the idea of a great many Chinese reformers and patriots that the only way in which they will be able to overthrow the present dynasty would be to have another antiforeign disturbance such as they had in 1900. It is their belief that in the confusion that would ensue they would be able to dethrone the Emperor and set up a Republic. They believe that Foreign Governments would not allow Kuang Hail to remain as Emperor for allowing another Boxer uprising in the Empire: It is also a current belief that England would help the Manchus, but that the United States with the help of Germany and France would stand by the Chinese. They believe firmly that foreign nations would never agree to destroy the integrity of China, as that would cause interna-| tional wars. In creating another great anti-Foreign Powers that the present authorities are incapable of managing the affairs of their country and it would be dangerous to allow them to retain their power. I believe that old anti-foreign feeling has the hearty sympathy of those who are in official positions. They feel their power is weakening, and that it would be a very unwise step to interfere with their meetings against foreigners. The boycott is not altogether an anti-American movement, but it is thoroughly anti-foreign." MINISTER UPSETS CONSULAR PLANS.

"Old Shanghai" remarked on Dec. 15:-- "In policy and action of the Consular Body have been identical with that of the council, directed solely to the removal of certain flagrant abuses of the Mixed Court, whose evil name has long is obstruction to any progress in the interest of been a reproach to the Settlement. The published dispatches of the Consular Body have There appears to be no chance of coming to expressed that Body's unanimous intention to insist on certain necessary reforms, one of I have, therefore, received instructions from which was the more humane treatment o my colleagues to proceed to Nanking and to female prisoners. It is also well known that negotiate with H. E. the Viceroy in this and | they have now been frustrated in that laudable intention by the lamentably weak action of the British Minister at Peking.

COST OF CHINESE LABOUR.

the heading of "Expenses of Chinese Labour."

They are interesting :improved by certain clauses in the Government | noon, so there is little time to spare, as it is regulations. One of these is that the Chinaman | scarcely possible to reach the station before receives a minimum wage of 1s. per shift, if at 11.30 a.m. The train from this point to Chên. the expiration of the first six months' service | chou is also a construction train with very poor the average wage does not amount to 50s. per second-class accommodation. Chenchou is month the minimum wage should be raised to reached at 0.45 and a good train leaves that 1s. 6d. per shift, whether the recipient proved place at 1.30 p.m., reaching Chumatien at efficient or not. It is certainly an innovation 7.45 p.m. Here there are semi-foreign inns. wise, that a 50 per cent, increase in pay should be a.m., and the journey is completed a Hankow guaranteed after a trial of six months, whether at 6.15 p.m. Trains do not run at all at night. the individual should be worthy of such There are no buffet cars or refreshment rooms. increase or not. As might have been expected, | Chinese food can be procured at all the stations. the early result of this clause was, generally Bedding and foreign food must be taken. The speaking, to make the work of the Chinaman second-class carriages are not oushion il, and inefficient and unsatisfactory, and it became the first-class carriages are merely cushioned necessary to introduce piece work as far as with American leather. Both are fairly well possible in the mines, with a graduated scale of warmed. A knowledge of French or Chinese is earnings. The Chinaman under this system almost essential as the conductors speak little can make as much or more than the regulation or no English. The Yellow River bridge is not wage as established by the Ordinance, and the likely to be opened for traffic until the middle result has been increased efficiency all round. of January. The reports from our mines show that the average depth of hole drilled to-day by the experienced Chinaman is greater than the average accomplished by the Kaffir in the past, and this may be said to be true also of other work done by contract as compared with the native. The later arrivals, who are shown their work by their more experienced fellow-countrymen, make more rapid progress than those who came first, who had to be instructed by white men or Kaffirs, either by means of signs or by the help of interpreters.

At the Simmer and Jack mine, which employs the largest number of Chinese on any single mine on the Rand, the average number of inches drilled per man during August, was 39.7 in. In the section of the mine tributary to the east incline shaft; where the conditions of working are practically the same as before the war, for the months of June, July, and August. 1899, the tonnege shovelled and trammed per native per shift was 1.84 tons, while for June, July, and August, 1905, it was 3.43 tons per coolie per shift. In the whole mine, where there is a change of conditions as compared with the conditions before the war, the tons show-lied and trammed per native per shift for the months of June, July, and August, 1899, were 1.52 tons, and for the same period in 1905 it was 268 tons per coolie per shift. This record must be considered ratisfactory when it is remembered that the Chinese were received at intervals, the last gang of 247 having only arrived at the mine on June 28 last. The experienced Kaffir puts down one 36 in. hole, the standard daily rate established by custom, and then usually ceases work for the day regardless of how soon he may have accomplished this, and as a rule does not core to earn extra wages by doing more than the customary task. Hence the experienced Chinaefficient workman, and if it were not for the high costs already referred to, together with more expensive supervision, the cost of this class of labour would equal, if not be less expensive, than the Kuffir.

CANVAS LAUNCHING OF A BIG MERCHANT. MAN. On the 14th of October last a passenger and freight steamer built for the Hamburg-America Line and called the Kronprinzessin Cecilie was launched at the Germania shipbuilding yard of the Fried, Krupp A. G. This ship, built according to the highest class of Lleyds for distance, measures 143.25 m. between perpendiculars, the breadth (moulded) is 16.78 m., and the depth 10.04 m. Her capacity with 7.98 m. draught is 7.300 tens dead weight, the weight of the vessel is 14,150 tons. Two quadruple engines, of more than 6,000 H.P., will give the Kronprinzessin Cecilie an average speed of 14k knots. There will be accommodation for 220 saloon passengers, 50 second, class and 1,000 'tweendeck

With special consideration of the destination of the ship for the Mexico line, the promenade deck has been built up rather high, in order to admit the construction of very high and airy saloons, the decoration of which show the HUNG NGOI SAN PO elegance and artistic taste one is used to even on the middle-sized steamers of the Hamburg-America line. Amongst the novelties for the. comfort of the passengers-a-gymnasium-with electric apparatus deserves special mention. For the carrying of meat and fruit freight there is a large refrigerating hold. The fact that the Kronprinzessin Cecilie is the third large merchantman launched within the last eight months at the Germania shipbuilding yard, which was hitherto exclusively devoted to the construction of men-of-war, tends to show the increasing importance of this yard for the construction of merchantmen-N. A travellor who has just arrived in Shanghai from Peking via Hankow, furnishes the N.-C. Daily News with the following details about the working of the Peking-Hunkow railway.

At present the bridge over the Yellow River is not open for traffic although it is completed. Passengers have still to cross the river by boat. There is one train each way per day, and the journey to Hankow is made in four stages. A train leaves Peking at 7 a.m. and runs to Shuntefu, which is reached at 5.25 p.m. The A. Jenkins 62 H.
